ALFRED E. NEUMAN LOOK-A-LIKE

My 4-year-old son Desmond was very excited to see your LEGO cover. So excited that as soon as he saw it, he ran upstairs to change his clothes to look as much like LEGO Alfred E. Neuman as possible. Here are the results.

Jenny Cross Gardiner, Maine

Who's the Cross? — First off, we're glad Desmond didn't go all out and decide to crash through a wall. Secondly, we're impressed that he had such easy access to a ribbon bowtie! That is clearly one fancy household he is being raised in. We can't help but think that if we had grown up in that kind of posh environment, maybe we wouldn't have wound up working at a lowly

I've bought one of your old magazines at a garage sale. When I looked at it I wasn't disturbed. Then, when I got the most recent one, I was disturbed. You've gotten more disturbing over the years. Why is that? Nico Sloane • Roswell, GA

Signe Ranger — Maybe it's not that we've gotten more disturbing over the years, but just that you've gotten more disturbed since you bought that old magazine. Garage sales will do that to you — a person can only look at so many used George Foreman Grills before slipping into the mouth of madness, MAD writer Scott Maiko went to a church tog sale last summer and he's still a jibbering shelf of his former self. On the upside, his panini skills have really jumped to the next level since he got that foreman Grilli —Ed.

BUTTOCKS OVER BROADWAY

What do you have to do to get your letter published in your magazine? Isn't it enough that I've been reading your magazine since I was ten (over 40 years ago)? Do I have to do cartwheels down Broadway, naked, holding the latest issue of MAD?

Eileen Buckiewicz - New Branswick, NJ

in our nightmares! - Ed.

Buckaroo — Okay, okayi We'll print your letter — just stop with the threats! We can't really answer your question, but we can tell you this: we do NOT want to know how you'd be holding that issue of MAD. Thanks for writing — we'll see you

I was re-reading MAD #522 (Sept 2013) and noticed for Celebrity Cause-of-Death Betting Odds, you had Jimmy Fallon with a The Tonight Show with Jimmy Fallon billboard. As you know by now, the show will actually be called The Tonight Show STARRING Jimmy Fallon. Does that mean you'll have to reprint the entire issue because of one mistake? Oh, wait — MAD is nothing but a big mistake anyway. Never mind!

Harvey Abel - Quinte West, Canada

Mar-vey for Vendetta — We're not quite sure where we stand with you, friend. First, you helpfully point out an error that, gone unchecked, surely would have wrecked this revored publication's sterling reputation. Filled with gratitude, we were already rushing back to press with the correction when we read your unbelievably hurtful final lines. Filled with sorrow and rage, we decided upon the only sensible course of action: we're still going to reprint the issue — 250,000 copies, weighing roughly half a ton — but instead of sending them back to newsstands, we're going to have them packed into heavy wooden crates and airdropped on your house. Thanks for including your full address, Harv! —Ed.

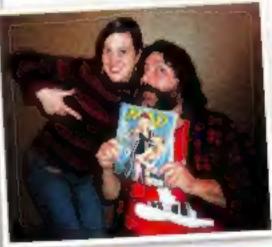

CELEBRITY SNAP, PART 1

Five been trying for more than 10 years now to be in your magazine; for some reason it's a life goal for me (which probably means I have low expectations for my life). I met Mick Foley after his comedy show the other night and got a picture with him. (This shot is after I hugged him and told him he smelled good... I was really getting punchy by the time I got up to his table...) Please make my dream come true and put us in the Letters and Tomatoes pages!

Johanna Swanson Ypsilanti, Mi

We're more than happy to make your dream come true! And it just reaffirms what we've always said — one woman's dream come true is another wrestler's living hightmare! —Ed.

CELEBRITY SNAP, PART 2

We were pleasantly surprised to get this shot of Lena Dunhem, the creator and star of Girlst Thanks to Michael Lewen from Judd Apatow's office, who was nice arrough (to us, not to Lena) to enap it and send it our way. And it was wonderful of Lens to not only pose with our parody from MAD #528, "Americon Girls", but also to hold in the vomit that the piece clearly inspired. She's a real class acti Thanks. Lene - end sony!

MAD READER ALERT

Every year we chronicle the dumbest people, events and things in our MAD 20 leave. But a year is just 365 days (you can count it for yourself, but we double-checked our meth on that one) what about the big picture??? What about chronicling atupidity on a larger scale? Luckily, our newest publication takes a look at the entire 21st century and sums up all the dumb in one convenient place! That's a lot of dumb! And if you're dumb enough to want to buy it, it's on sale now wherever megazines Spice Bold

KIN YOU BELIEVE IT?

We recently received this photo of Oliver Michael Bucci. What's so special about a baby. you sak? Normally, we'd say, "Nothing! There's NOTHING special about a baby!" But in this case, Oliver happens to be the grantion of late MAO founder William M. Galmest Askide from being adorable, we're pretty gure he's also, technically, our boes. On the upside, with a baby in charge, we can look forward to a more meture work.

HIT THE DECADES

I sent you a brilliant letter 35+ years ago, you did not print. Sent you another inspirational letter a few months ago and again not printed. This is your last chance. Either you print this letter or I will NEVER write you again. I will instead only share my words of wisdom with your far superior competitors (and sure to be longer lasting), Crasy and Sick. That will trach you.

Gary Slegel - Downingtown, PA

Jonathan Livingston Siegel — Congratulations! Your shameless attempt at blackmall has worked! Now the entire world can parse your brilliant. Inspirational words of wisdom! The editors at Crazy and Sick (not to mention Wacko, Loony and Dirt Wheels) must be furious that MAD beat them to the prize of the decade: the publication of a letter from Gary Siegel. Now that we've finally printed one of your Socratic treatises, Gary, why not share the wealth? You have our full permission to send future letters to any of our competitors! Or don't, The Important thing is that you never send us anything ever again! Thanks for writing (for the last time)! —Ed.

MAD BLURBS

On a recent episode of "Comedians in Cara Getting Coffee," terry Seinfeld interviewed Howard Stem and they talked about MAD, the decor of their offices and the prices of grocerles. For the sake of this publication, however, we've chosen to focus on just the first two topics.

MOWARD: In your city office, do you have a lot of mementos of your cores?

JERRY: A couple.

HOWARD: What do you have hanging on the walls?

JERRY: "If this you the greatest dwing that I've ever achieved in my career I was an the cover of MAD Magazine and of cause I'm saying "Hello, Neumani"

HOWARD: Know what's in my office? MAD Magazine, the cover, I've got it blown up and it's all that mattered to me. It's me most important thing.

JERRY: How crazy is it that we both feel that way?

HOWARD; Thor's what I'm saying.

Because, you know what it was? That was when you found out more were adults that were silly.

HOWARD: I adom MAD Magazine.

READER ALERT

If you had your letter printed in this issue, we are absolutely breathless with sourtement over how much great stuff you're going to get. You'll be receiving Movies R Fun by Josh Cooley, from our friends at Chronicle Books; a DVD of Bewore the Botman: Shoulows of Gotham, Secson 1, Part 1, from our pals at Warner Bros. GOLDEN FOLD-IN ANNIVERSARY

Could it be a more half-century ago that a young, doe-eyed Al Jaffee walked into the MAD offices, hoping to sell the editors on his idea for something he called "The Page That Shows One Image, But Reveals a Second, Entirely-Different Comedic Image When You Fold it Irr"? (Later shortened to simply "The Fold-in.") Amazingly, this issue marks the 50th enniversary of the first Fold-in, from MAD #86, April 1964. In honor of this remarkable milestone, here's a look back at Al's very first Fold-in! Congratulations, Al — you may just make it in this biz!

MAD is often asterd why it doesn't know experience bull-color three-page fold-outs the way other high class magazines like "Life" and "Playboy" have. There are two reasons for that One MAD is against estimated as should be supported in change to here material is our economy-runded black-and-white one-page.

And then explained everything how increase the grade and hings that this other kid would do well on the project and to highled there wouldn't be any herm in pretending, but then it got out of hand. And my dad teld. This is just unacceptable Tad Today's a day to Bath in valuable lesson about honesty. You're going to tell everyone you re not Lithuanian. And my more said. That's right You need to lear to tell the cruth over when it's hard

And that's when Dave's dad shouled from across this room at my dad, "Hey Start Grad you made it." And said. Why do you know Deve's dad?" And my dad said, "Wait. That's your friend Deve's dad? My company's been trying to land him for a client," And that's when Dave's dad came up to my dad and said. "I had no idea you were Lithuanian" And related to a basketball prayer no less?

And I looked at my dad

And my dad looked at me

And he said, "Yes. The whole family's very proud of, um — And I said, "Lines. We're all very proud of my dad's cousin , mas None of us spoke for the whole car ride home. I think that's probably for the best

Stop calling it "ranism" every time Obern i approval ratings fall. Sometimes a president in unpopular not because of the color of the skip but almply because he's a lossy provident

NEW RULE:

Even though she claims to speak English, the next time you have your old pet Arianna Huffregion on the panel, you have to spring for subtities or an interpreter, preferably botisit'll be money well spent! Imagine how many more right wingers she'll ples off if they actually understand all of the left -wing positions she's pushing!

NEW RULE:

Start going to a stylist. You can mail every see a great of Qualter State in your hair.

NEW RULE:

Continuing to go after Sarah Palin as a target is like a drone strike on a Pakistani cemetery it's too easy and it accomplishes nothing.

ES FOR BILL MAHER

NEW RULE:

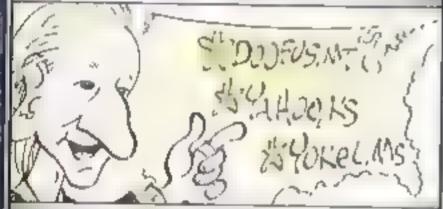

You've got to quit using allly pictures of Michele Sachmann as A punch line, if we wanted to hear the same joke over and over again every week, we'd watch Alike and Abelly.

NEW RULE:

After 300 episodes, It's time to throw out the balloons and confetts kept at the ready for the first time you say something that makes a penelist actually change their opinion — or vice versa.

NEW RULE:

You opn't make references throughout the show about how stapid and angultured the mideoction of America is — and then close the show by ratting off specining live appearances in the same places those "stupid and uncultured" yehoes five. What does that say about your net?

NEW RULE:

How Page "Countine"? Startly? A 80-minute long, commercial-free TV show doesn't need an extra 10 minutes online. Are we expected to believe that your guests have been holding their legenest insights and furnisal singers for the fraction of your TV audience dumb enough to los on?

NEW RULE:

Regarding marijuana, you twee to either smoke up on 🚁 or shut up. We get it; you like put. So do all your viewers it makes it easier to watch your show.

NEW RULE:

You have to michigh some gratiations mudity on each show. You're on the same channel as True Blood, Boardwall Empire and Game of Thrones, for Bod's sale. HBO subscribers have come to expect it. Just not Am Coulter, olay?

HERE WE GO WITH ANOTHER RIDICULOUS

For too long, our populace has been tormented by a horrible malady. Worst of all, even those who were not directly affilicted were still made to suffer. Seeing friends and loved ones succemb to this sickness was torturous. However, this ooce seemingly-unstoppable scourge may be on the verge of eradication — and that's a blessing to all of mankind.
